INTRODUCTION.

"ORDER IS HEAVEN'S FIRST LAW."

The CIVIL AND SCHOOL TOWNSHIP RECORD AND ACCOUNT BOOK has been prepared in its present form only after a careful and thoughtful consideration of the subject for six years, during which time all of the plans for keeping Township Accounts in this State, and others of similar organizations, have been, again and again, examined; even the systems of Indiana reaching back beyond the adoption of the present Constitution in 1851, have been carefully investigated and made to do service in this undertaking. This discovery has been made in respect to old systems—they were in many respects superior to the present, and far less expensive.

The Township system of Indiana, with a single Trustee, though the best and cheapest yet devised, has invited the cupidity of sharpers from every quarter, who have swarmed into our state like locusts into Egypt, to eat out the substance of our goodly heritage. The honest question seems never to have occurred to them, "How much and how well can we serve the Townships for a given sum," but "How much can we get out of them for 'this set of books,' or 'that Toy Map or Trap,' or this piece of impracticable 'Apparatus,' etc."

But the times have changed. We have reached a crisis in the development of our free school system that threatens the very life of the schools themselves. One of two things must be done. We must either reduce the expenses, or abandon the system. The first we ought to do; the last we cannot afford to do. Economy, retrenchment, reform true and genuine, ought to begin in the townships and move up through all the departments of the government. But true reform is not to correspondingly reduce the quality as you reduce the price.

This complete Township Record and Account Book is offered to the Trustees of Indiana, not as an inferior book either in matter or make up, but as the BEST and CHEAPEST ever offered to the public. The whole system is simple, accurate, thorough and complete. It embraces every detail of the business of a Township Trustee, all in one compact, complete system—IN ONE BOOK. It is at once Account and Record Book, Trustee and Teacher's Contract and Report Book, Sheep Record, Poor Record, Dog Register and Account Book, all in one. Not a single record or transaction connected with the office of Trustee, except enumeration, that is not contained in it. It is a teacher that will speak to the Township Officers of Indiana when the Author is gathered to his fathers.

Many Trustees have been troubled in their settlements with "overdrawn" accounts, and borrowing from one fund for another. All of this it is true is improper and illegal, but then scores of new Trustees find this the case, on entering their offices, and must deal with the facts. Others have been troubled with the disposition of the "Dog Fund." This is all simplified in that department of the book.

Again, other Trustees have wondered how they can ever keep track of the apparatus and supplies in the different School Houses. The Teachers' Reports connected with their Contracts settles this question. Here is found the inauguration of an era of responsibility.

Again, other Trustees are troubled with the discharge of their duties as Overseers of the Poor. We unfold this delicate business and enable them to record every transaction with applicants to whom they have granted aid.

Most new Trustees have been at a loss to know about the previous settlements—this book provides for every annual settlement that shall be made during its use, and what is better, the certification of the Board of County Commissioners of its correctness and acceptance by them. It also contains a hypothetical year's business and balance sheet, thus giving the new Trustee a model year's business.

Who would scatter the business of an office over six or eight volumes when he could have it in one comprehensive and complete volume?

Trustees of Indiana, I appeal to you for the vindication of my judgment and work.

TRUSTEES OF INDIANA:—Every system of Township Records and Accounts which embody the work of a single volume, is an infringement on our copyrights; and the manufacturer and seller are equally literary pirates. You should watch them. If they have stolen from us, it is quite probable they will steal from you.

INTRODUCTION.

The Law enacted in 1865 for "discouraging the keeping of useless and sheep-killing dogs," has been but indifferently understood and its provisions carried out with the same lack of uniformity. The primary object of the law was to raise a revenue by the "dog tax" levied in each township to pay for the sheep killed therein by dogs. But it has been so construed on the "first come the first served" principle, that those who had sheep killed the first of the year, if they were diligent, got their full pay, while those having sheep killed later in the year, would find on presenting their claims, the dog fund exhausted, and no adjudication of their claims took place, hence no orders for their losses or damages were issued. Then if the funds of one year were exhausted, and there was a surplus the next year, this was turned into the Tuition Fund, regardless of old claimants on the Dog Fund.

The following state of facts is met by even a cursory glance at the subject:

1. In many Townships the loss of sheep in a given year exceeds two, three, or even four times the amount of the "dog fund" for that year.

2. In other Townships there are dogs to be taxed but no sheep to be killed.

3. In yet other Townships the value of sheep killed and maimed one year exceeds the whole dog fund, and in another year the dog fund largely exceeds the damages to sheep by dogs.

4. Other Townships have within them incorporated towns and cities, also an annual surplus of dog fund, &c., &c.

What shall be the guide in this complication of affairs? A few plain statements will set these questions clearly before the mind.

1. The special object of the dog tax is to pay for damages to sheep caused by dogs, and as long as there is one just and lawful claim for such damages unsettled, not one dollar, not one cent of that fund can be diverted to any other purpose.

2. The law provides that on the first Monday of October annually, the Township Trustee shall pay over to the Tuition Fund any balance in his hands, in excess of fifty dollars; but mark you he is to reserve fifty dollars as a contingent fund, lest the slaughter of sheep the coming year may exceed by fifty dollars the whole dog fund in process of collection.

3. The law requires the Township Trustee in the adjustment of claims to issue an order on the "dog fund" to the amount of the award.

4. The first Monday in October is set apart as general settlement day, and every analogy of circumstance and law points to the one conclusion, viz: that on this day the Trustee is to make settlement of these orders if his fund is equal to or in excess of the aggregate of these orders, he is to pay all of them in full, and if not, then pay them in order of their priority of date. After discharging all of the obligations and laying aside a reserve fund of fifty dollars, the balance shall be turned over to the second claimant—the Tuition fund of the Township. But in no case can any money be diverted till all of the first claimants on this Fund have been satisfied.

The act of March 14, 1877, entitled "An Act to provide for the disposition of the surplus Dog Fund in the hands of Township Trustees," was special in its provisions and having met the requirements of the special cases is now practically inoperative.

5. The law creating the Dog Fund requires the Trustee to distinguish between sheep killed and sheep maimed, between sheep and lambs, also requires the claimant to testify to the number of sheep and locality, and date of the killing and maiming; and the Trustee may require witnesses to the above statement. After all the Trustee is to determine the damage and issue orders on the Dog Fund for the amount. These orders should bear the date of issue, date of payment—first Monday in October ensuing—and amount without interest; and the same should be carefully registered, that on the day of annual settlement the Trustee may know just what amount of indebtedness must be met and provided for.

The proceedings connected with the awards should have all the order and solemnity of a Justice's Court, and the docket should be as carefully made up. All expenses of the same must be paid from the Township Fund. Nothing but the net damages to sheep can be paid from this fund.

With this setting forth of the duties of trustees in regard to the claims on the Dog Fund, we think a clear understanding will be had and uniform proceedings attained.

NOTE.—The Act of the General Assembly, approved April 13, 1881, provides that all claims for damages to sheep should be filed within ten days. That no person is entitled to damages caused by his own dogs, and that all orders should be paid in full in the order of their award. That all claims under the Law of 1865, unpaid, shall be settled and paid in the order of their priority same as if there had been no changes in the law. It also changes time of payment from March to October.

NOTE 1. If the aggregate sum of the orders for the current year is in excess of the amount of the Dog Fund, then on the first Monday of March next ensuing the Trustee must pay the claimant, if not paid before, in the order of their date, and require each to certify on the back of his order the amount, in full, received. If the Fund is in excess of the orders on the Fund, he must turn over to the Common School Fund all over and above fifty dollars, charging the Common School Fund with that amount, and crediting the Dog Fund with the same amount.

NOTE 2. The Trustee is not bound by the law to award the exact amount of damages testified to by witnesses; this is simply their opinion; his award must be in accordance with his best judgment and belief from the facts and testimony set forth.

NOTE 3. Blank Orders on the Dog Fund are a part of the "Indiana Series" of Official Books and Blanks of Township Trustees.

NOTE 4. Whenever an award is made an order must be issued on the Dog Fund, and recorded in the Record of Orders on the Dog Fund, and when paid this order should be attached to the voucher, and turned over in the annual settlement.

☞ All of the above is in accordance with Act of March 7th, 1883, and previous legislation not repealed.
